

Mental Health America wants to hear from you!

There is growing momentum in Congress to address mental health. As a champion for all affected by mental health challenges, Mental Health America hopes to hear from you—Mental Health America affiliates, individuals, family members, community members and others—about what you think our government can do to improve mental health.